OF WALTHAM

Foreword

We have in the course of recent tragedies had time to reflect on several major premises. What is this entity we call the United States of America? What are the ideals and hopes upon which it was founded? Who are the men who have taken that bold initiative and dynamic leadership to make this American dream possible? How have we been able to survive as a nation through several world conflicts, numerous minor ones, and even internal strife? And what are our goals and our expectations? It is the purpose of this book to alleviate some of that bewilderment which has clouded over our sense of dedication and direction. We have attempted to show the basic ideals and ideas which have motivated in the past, and can motivate in the future, our nation to its true manifest destiny.

THE EDITORS

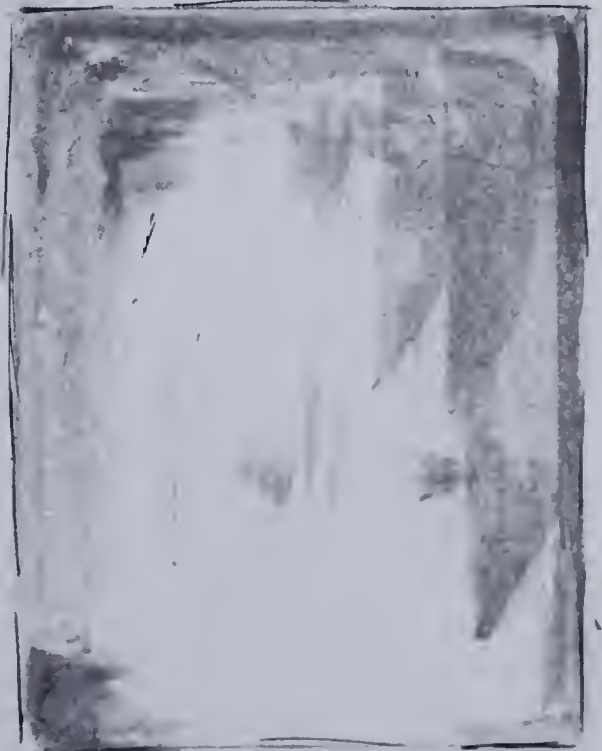

Dedication

Many things have blended themselves together to make America great. But beyond our social and technological advancements there has been one important factor that is often forgotten in a survey of our history. That is the contribution of classroom teachers to our way of life.

From the earliest one-room, little red school houses to the modern educational complex, the leavening agent of education has been the teachers. Always striving to plant the seed of intellectual curiosity with a firm background of guidance and discipline, they have inspired generation after generation of American men and women to strive for excellence. Dedicating their lives to our youth, the American classroom teachers have created the great adventure that is the quest for truth and justice.

In tribute to their unheralded service, we, the class of 1964, respectfully dedicate our MIRROR to our teachers, the faculty of Waltham Senior High School.

"Never let it be forgot that for one brief moment there was a spot known as Camelot." These lyrics to John F. Kennedy's favorite song remind us all too poignantly that, like the castled city of Camelot, our late President has been given to the ages. There can be other analogies drawn. Just as Camelot dissolved at the height of its power, so too was this young, vivacious man at the height of his political might cut down in a Dallas street. Here was a man intensely dedicated to God, country, and family who awakened our nation, and the world, to new frontiers of peace and unity. He was a man whose prime objective was that the youth of our nation have a sense of responsibility and dedication. For them to grow morally, mentally, and physically in order to mature into upright, responsible citizens was his one satisfaction. His inspiration was also a challenge, a challenge which could never ring from the crumbled walls of Camelot. If we accept this challenge, then the few short years he served will be as legion and as bright as stars in the sky. Let us not forget that for one brief moment there was a man known as John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

May 26, 1964

To the graduates of 1964:

I am pleased that you chose to dedicate your yearbook to your teachers. Next to your parents, no one has been more important to your development. Thus your teachers are people with a touch of immortality in that you will direct others from the examples set by them, and they in turn will guide others ad infinitum.

"And that farm boy to himself said ha,
'When I grow up, like Mark Hopkins I'll be.'"

"Semper Superare--Always to Excel" can well continue to be your aim in the changing future as you advance from the scene of happiness and accomplishment at Waltham High School 1961-1964. Along with your headmaster, Mr. Almon Morang, I hope that continued collective and individual success will go with you always.

To the Class of 1964:

Never before has our youth been faced with such a real challenge. The combination of automation, which is replacing workers by the thousands, plus the technological age in which we are living, are some of today's problems.

Your quest for prosperity and happiness in the years to come will be based on your ability to produce while faced with competition of the most critical sort.

Free education and American system of free enterprise provide opportunities for you to build a successful career which is unmatched anywhere else in the world. You have reached a level of training which will make it possible for you to take your place in the community as responsible and financially independent citizens.

May each of you achieve the victory of success and enjoy good health in the years that lie ahead in today's challenging world. May you be guided by the inspirational message left by our late President John F. Kennedy - "and so, my fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you -- ask what you can do for your country."

Sincerely,

Lloyd F. Van Arsdale

SALLY AGRILLO
1756 Trapelo Road
College II

"That's wonderful!" shouts this popular senior to Donna and Sue when W.H.S. wins a game . . . spends spare time water skiing or playing the piano . . . will always remember activity period with Mr. Fitzgerald . . . future holds a career in dental hygiene.

Activities: Cheerleader 4; Senior Play 4; Talent Show 2, 3, 4; Class Treasurer 4; Mirror Business Staff 4.

HEINZ ALBRECHT
44 Amory Road
College II

"Heinzie" hails from New Brunswick, Canada, but he finds that his hobbies, cars and girls, remain the same. "Heinzie" dislikes lunch periods at W.H.S. but brightens at the mention of German class. Luck always! Und Auf Wiedersehn!

GAIL ALIMANSKY
304 Bacon Street
College II

This gay senior comes to us from L.S.J.H. "Great" is her description of democracy class. Ann, Debby, and Beth say that she is quite a fried chicken enthusiast . . . Gail hopes to attend a college of business administration. Good luck!

Activities: Pep Squad 2, 3, 4; Library Council 3, 4; Mirror Business Staff 4; French Club 2.

FLORENCE ALLEN
19 Maple Street
College II

"How about that?" exclaims "Fluff" after cooking up a masterpiece for Terry, Billy, or Joyce. This exuberant senior enjoys democracy classes and homeroom periods at W.H.S. An active C.Y.O. member, "Fluff" aspires to be a nurse. All the best in the future.

SUZANNE ALTRICH
16 Princeton Avenue
Business—Clerk Typist

Pert and pretty Suzanne comes to W.H.S. from Lexington Street Junior High and is a clerk typist in the business course. Law, beef stew, and activity periods are rated high on Suzanne's list of "greats." This vivacious senior plans to complete her education with I.B.M. school.

Thanksgiving — Pilgrims Offer Thanks to God for the Rich Harvest

RALPH AMELIA
19 Daniels Street
Business—Accounting

"Oomba" enjoys bookkeeping and the talent shows at W.H.S. He wishes there were more parking spaces, but he perks up at the mention of girls and cars. We wish him luck this fall at college!

Activities: Talent Show 3, 4; Maroon Squad 4.

DALE ANDERSON
17 Irving Street
Business—Stenographic

The high-stepping leader of our majorettes is an active member of our student body. "Panda" can often be seen eating pizza with Shirley, Marilyn, or Jeanie. Business correspondence offers no worry for Dale, but lack of parking spaces does. Good luck, Dale, as you represent W.H.S. in the business world.

Activities: Baton Twirler 2, 3, 4; Talent Show 3, 4.

"Now thank we all our God, With hearts and hands and voices."
MARTIN RINEHART

DOUGLAS ANDERSON
44 Beaver Street
College 1

Cheerful "Doug" can be heard yelling, "nice whip!" to Ted, Ben, and Bill. This former North Juniorite enjoys a good steak more than anything. Also high on his list of favorites is homeroom period at W.H.S. Good luck at college, Doug!

Activities: Baseball 2, 3.

JUDITH ANDERSON
31 Madison Road
College 1

"That's the truth," chirps vivacious "Little Jud." German classes rank high with this blue-eyed cheerleader. Janet, Martha, and Judy tell us that "little Jud" also enjoys swimming, driving, and eating ice cream sodas. Any college will welcome this active W.H.S. senior.

Activities: Cheerleader 4; German Club 2, 3, 4; F.T.A. 3, 4; Treasurer 4; French Club 2, 3, 4; Class Secretary 4.

JOAN ANDRADA
94 Temple Road
Honors

Artistic Joanie can often be seen with Carol, Gretchen, or Jenny. This attractive senior enjoys English, German and trig classes. When not busy doing school work, she finds time to sketch and go to parties. Joanie hopes to attend college after graduation. We know she'll do fine.

Activities: German Club 2, 3, 4; Treasurer 4; Newspaper Staff 4; Mirror Business Staff 4; Mirror Art Staff 4; Senior Play Make-up Committee Chairman 4.

TED ARICO
72 Whitman Road
College 1

"Down on it!" shouts Teddy to Tom, Ben and Jack. Studies, gym, lunch, and sports rate highest with Ted, while chemistry class tops his list of dislikes. His favorite subject is math and he hopes to attend Bowdoin, Colby or Dartmouth after graduation.

Activities: Football 2, 3, 4, Captain 4; Baseball 2, 3, 4, Captain 4; Maroon Squad 4; Talent Show 4; Senior Prom Committee 4.

ERNEST ARSENAULT
50 Pleasant Street
Vocational—Machine

Brown-eyed Ernie can be seen going to math class with Jake, Jim and "J.C." if he's not headed for shop. The opportunity for individual progress in the class is Ernie's main praise of the Vocational High. He thinks it's too bad he doesn't have a longer lunch hour to enjoy his favorites, meat loaf and roast beef. Best of luck in your future career.
Activities: Baseball 2, 3, 4.

RUSSELL AUCOIN
280 College Farm Road
Vocational—Electronics

This alumnus of L.S.J.H. can be heard saying, "That's a tough break," as the too short lunch period ends. Russ can't wait for the 2:30 dismissal bell so he can bowl a few strings. Good luck in choosing a profession!

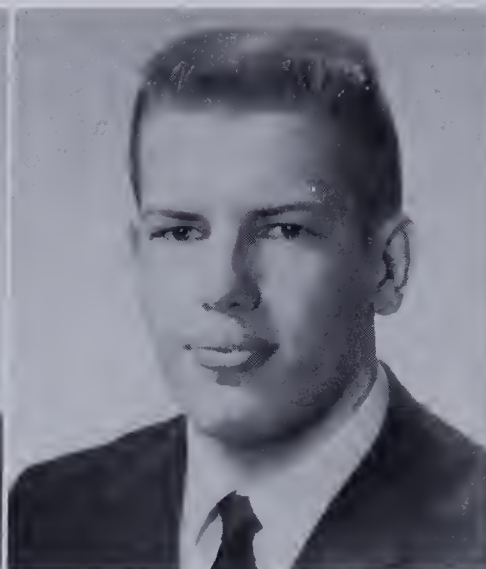

JOHN BABSTOCK
7 Charlotte Road
College II

Ellen, "Mouse," and Sameera agree that "Babo" is happiest when he's fixing cars. He's always glad to hear the dismissal bell ring, especially when there's a Rifle Club meeting planned. We wish him the best in whatever he does.
Activities: Rifle Club 4.

STEVEN BAILEY
337 Grove Street
Vocational—Printing

You'd better "keep it cool" that Steve is really called "Bill" by friends, Jim, Smitty, and Jake. This ex-South Juniorite really enjoys a thick juicy steak after some time at the rifle club or some swimming. History class, shops and teachers rate high on his list of favorites. Steve's future plans include the armed forces.
Activities: Safety Committee 2, Secretary 2.

WALTER BAILEY
25 Lyman Street
Business—Accounting

"Hey there, boy!" might be the refrain of "Big Bill" to pals Oomba, Dale, and John . . . accounting vies with some of the teachers as a favorite . . . attended North Junior . . . data processing will certainly orient him for our future world of science.
Activities: Data Processing 4.

LOUISE BARCA
110 Adler Street
College II

"Hi, 'Lou'!" Pauline, Linda, or Joyce can be heard calling on the telephone. This brown-eyed South Juniorite wishes there were more Italian and Chinese foods at lunch and less one way traffic in the corridors. "Lou" plans to enter Kenneth Academy and become a beautician. Best of luck!

Activities: Senior Prom Committee 3, 4; Talent Show 2, 4; Pep Squad 2; Maroon Squad 2, 3; Knitting Club 4.

"Listen my children, and you shall hear
Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere."
LONGFELLOW

ROBERT BARNHART
164 Copeland Street
Vocational—Electronics

This ex-Lexington Street Juniorite really enjoys the 11:00 A.M. bell for lunch with Joe and Russ. This brown-eyed senior votes lunch and the 2:30 bell as just tops. Bob dislikes the fact that the Vocational High isn't co-ed. His immediate plans include the service, preferably the Navy. Smooth sailing!

WILLIAM BARRY
7a Hansen Road
College II

"Down on it!" shouts Bill to Dave, Ben, and Ted, on the way to lunch, hoping that chicken will be on the menu. Algebra II is his favorite subject, while chemistry is the thing he likes least at W.H.S. Future plans include college. Activities: Golf Team 3, 4; Maroon Squad 3, 4.

JAMES BATTAGLIA
18 Mayall Road
Vocational—Auto Mechanics

"Fry ice!" shouts "Bob" to friends, Ray, Ed, and "Mow," after a bowling game or round of golf. Auto mechanics afford him the chance to work on cars, which he really enjoys. He just thinks it's too bad about the no student parking facilities. The U. S. Air Force soars into Bob's future plans!

STEPHEN BAUCKMAN
140 Myrtle Street
College I

"Slick," as he is known to Steve, Jim, and Dick, came to W.H.S. from South Junior High. Painting, records, and girls take up most of his spare time. "Down on it!" yells "Slick" while enjoying a study or an art class. There never seems to be enough time between classes for "Slick," whose future plans are to attend Massachusetts College of Art. Activities: Riddle Club 2; Dramatics Club 2, 3; Senior Prom Committee 4.

JOHN BEATTY
80 Milton Street
College II

"You're kiddin'," says John to Heinz, Mike, and Bill as he rushes to trig and solid class. His hobbies include electronics and cars. Unfortunately, the student parking problem is a great burden to him. John plans to join the Navy, and then go into electronics work.

JAMES BECKWITH
200 Warren Street
College II

"Jeb Stuart" comes to us from Watertown, via Lexington Street Junior High. His hobbies include golf, girls, and basketball. His best friends, Joe, Gordon, and Lorna, tell us that he likes Mr. Fitzgerald's math class best. His future plans include college.

Revolutionary War — Free Men Throw Off the Tyrants' Chains

"To improve the golden moments of opportunity and catch the good that is within our reach, is a great art of life."

S. JOHNSON

RAYMOND BELL
95 Upton Road
Vocational—Machine

"Isn't that the truth," says Ray to Stephen, Roger, or Jim if one should comment about the "atmosphere" in history class. Steak and Italian food compete with swimming and tennis as Ray's favorites. The future holds college or machinist work for Ray. Best wishes always!

Activities: Football 4.

RAYMOND BELLIVEAU
137 Myrtle Street
Vocational—Auto Mechanics

Bob, Vic, and Paul can tell that "Bell" is at his best at 2:30 or in history class. Cars, shooting, and boating rate as "Bell's" top inclinations. This student from St. Charles plans to exchange his shop togs for the blue uniform of the U.S. Navy. Our best wishes always!

Activities: Scuba Diving 3.

PATRICIA BENINATI
25 McKenn Street
Business—Stenographic

Sparkling brown eyes portray Patty's friendly personality. A baseball enthusiast, gym classes are tops with her. When not busy working on our Mirror or newspaper clerical staffs, Patty can be found enjoying fried clams with Ellie, Sandy, or Ernie. Best of luck working in a law firm, Pat!

Activities: Mirror Clerical Staff 4; Newspaper Clerical Staff 4; Pep Squad 2, 3, 4; Talent Show 4.

ALICE BENNETT
35 Eddy Street
College II

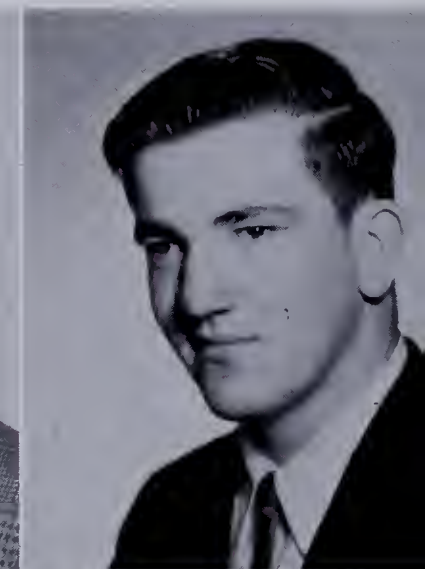

"Alla" really can't decide which she likes most—swimming or Mr. Collin's homeroom period. Kathy, Marie, and Waldo think that pizza and math also rate A+ with this brown-eyed miss. We wish you W.H.S.'s best at IBM school.

RONALD BENSON
29 Church Street
College I

"Ben," a former North Jun-iorite, loves math and home-room period best at Waltham High. Bill, Ted, and Doug tell us that he likes chemistry least and that he could eat roast beef any time at all. His future plans include college. Good luck, "Ben!"

Activities: Football 2, 3, 4.

JON BERGMAN
44 Addison Road
College II

Jon, who came to us from Quincy, loves golfing and sailing. "So, what else is new?" he asks Charlie, Paul and Steve. The fact that there are but four class periods a week makes high school life more enjoyable, but the school spirit is a disappointment. Jon hopes for college, then plans to enter the business world.

Patrick Henry — His Voice, Like a Sword, Fought for Liberty

SANDRA BERINATO
59 Hillcrest Road
Business—Stenographic

Activity periods are whiled away happily by this busy senior. Bookkeeping rates an A with our future secretary. Sandy can often be seen going to Brigham's with Gerry, Pat, and Cindy. The aroma of baked lasagna brings an appreciative smile to her lips. Best of luck!

Activities: Talent Show 2, 4; Mirror Clerical Staff 4; Pep Squad 2, 3, 4; Senior Prom Committee 4; Red Cross Representative 2.

JOHN BERNDTSON
21 Cushing Street
Honors

John, a former South Juniorite, loves hiking and mountain climbing. "Hiiums!" yells John to Joe, Dick, and Mike as he runs to biology. His eyes light up at the mention of steak and potatoes. John likes Miss Tabor most at W.H.S. and the notices least. He aims for college, then mechanical engineering. Best of luck to a great kid!

Activities: Debating Club 2, 3, 4; Senior Play 4; Language Lab Assistant 3; Chess Club 2; International Relations Club 3.

"I know not what course others may take; but as for me, give me liberty, or give me death!"

PATRICK HENRY

CARLETON BERRY
119 Russell Street
College II

Carleton comes from North Junior. Butch, Jack, and John tell us that lunch is his favorite activity and pizza is his favorite food. He really enjoys W.H.S. In the future, he plans to travel for awhile.

JORG BEWERSDORF
87 Marivista Avenue
Vocational—Machine

"Show me who you go with and I'll tell you what you are!" is "Sargent's" favorite "schlagwort" . . . this senior must be tops then . . . friends include Mr. Benedict, Jim, and Ron . . . clarinet, sax, and German Club take up his free time . . . likes the chance for advancement in class . . . plans to attend prep school . . . eventually hopes to be test pilot.

Activities: Mirror Art Staff 4; Talent Show 2; Cross Country 2.

ANTHONY BICCHIERI
140 Robbins Street
Vocational—Auto Body

Shop week and theory classes are by far the fondest activities of Tony. This alumnus of South Junior also enjoys hunting and stock car racing when not eating spaghetti with Paul, Tom, and Bob. Tony sees auto body work as his future profession.

Activities: Newspaper Staff 4.

SUZANNE BIONDO
6 Hollace Street
College I

Lively Sue is frequently seen walking through our hallowed corridors with George or Jane. This friendly senior enjoys French classes at W.H.S. A great help with Red Cross work, Sue hopes to go to a junior college. We're certain she'll do well in whatever she wishes.

Activities: German Club 3, 4; Homeroom Representative 4; Pep Squad 2, 3; Maroon Squad 4; F.T.A. 2; French Club 2.

President — Bold Men to Lead a Young Nation

THOMAS BIRMINGHAM
47 Fiske Street
College II

When photography is mentioned around this active lad, there's sure to be a response. Tom may often be seen eating subs with Claude and Jerry or at the garage trying to fix his Rambler.

CAROL BISHOP
38 Barbara Road
College II

Blue-eyed Carol is an avid trig student. Carol, who comes to us via North Junior High, is known to her friends for her wit and intellectual curiosity. Carol's plans for the future include attending U. of Mass. and a career in the field of elementary education.

JOHN BLAINE
36 Trotten Circle
College II

This red-head, a former resident of Tampa, Florida, can often be seen gulping steak and mashed potatoes with his pals, "The big Swede," Herb, and "Dakota" . . . likes lunch-time best . . . favorite subject, history . . . plans to enter college. Good luck!

ROGER BLAKE
3 Copeland Street
College I

Genial "Miles" finds the lack of student parking spaces most disturbing at W.H.S., but he is very content in trig classes or eating with friends "Goodie" and Greg. Sharp-shooter "Miles" plans on a college education after graduating from W.H.S.

Activities: Rifle Club 2; Weather Club 2.

JAMES BOGLE
17 Lawndale Avenue
College I

"Bog," a happy-go-lucky senior, is often seen walking in the halls of W.H.S. with friends Murph and Dick. He especially favors Miss Hirst's chemistry labs. When he's not in school, this blue-eyed L.R.Y. member enjoys coin collecting, and peanut butter and banana sandwiches. Good luck in the future, "Bog," as you enter college!

Activities: Language Lab Assistant 3, 4; Debating Club 2.

STEVEN BOLIO
59 Bowdoin Avenue
College II

Ambitious Steve's only complaint as "O'B" and Kelley know is that "Fords don't go." If he's not skiing or working on cars, Steve's happy in the presence of good food and "plenty of it." Either Bentley College or the service will be the starting step of Steve's successful future.

Activities: Class Vice President 4; Prom Committee 3, 4; Home-room Representative 2, 3, 4.

"The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States."

U.S. CONSTITUTION

ANGELINA BONICA
73 Taylor Street
College II

"I could tell right away," says Angie as she cheers our hockey team on to victory. She loves democracy classes and W.H.S. rallies. Her brown eyes sparkle when Christine, Maryann, or Dianne mention her favorite food, pizza. "Angie" looks forward to junior college and a career as a legal secretary.

Activities: Hockey Cheerleader 3, 4; Talent Show 3, 4; Pep Squad 2, 3, 4; Student Council Representative 3, 4.

JOHN BONICA
64 Oak Street
College II

"A laugh a day," says Johnnie as he walks into the cafeteria during third lunch. Bruce, Dick, and Don share John's enthusiasm for Christmas vacation and the Boy's Club. The future looks bright at the I.B.M. school.

HELEN BOUDREAU
8 Castle Street
Distributive Education

A transfer student from St. Mary's, Helen is kept busy in her spare time with sewing in the winter and skiing and swimming in the summer . . . enjoys pizza with Dianne, Anjoicette, and Phil . . . future plans include retailing school.

Activities: Pep Squad 2, 4; Junior Prom 3; D.E.C.A. 4; Talent Show 2.

JAMES BOUDREAU
8 Castle Street
College II

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," says Jimmy, who comes to us from St. Mary's High and the Waltham Vocational School. Bud, Bill, and Dave know how much he likes English class and spaghetti and meatballs, and how much he dislikes sessions. He plans to enter the Air Force after graduation.

BERNADETTE BOURQUE
123 Russell Street
Business—Clerk Typist

Typing with Miss Grover rates high with the secretary of "Les Debonnaires." "Bernie" always answers, "Sure," when Ellie, Carol and Donna suggest pizzas. The future looks hopeful at I.B.M. school.

Class Song

O dear Waltham High School,
The school of our youth,
A school that is hallowed
And radiant with truth,
Let us pay tribute
To you with our song,
Dear Waltham High School,
Our mem'ries are strong!

Now into the wide world
A world of distress,
With new aspirations
We strive for success,
Should we seek fortune
Renown and great glory,
You'll e'er Waltham High School,
Be bright in our story.

Class History

Prologue: In the year 1961 a group of innocent sophomores left the security of their previous position and entered the domain of underclassmen in the murky confines of Waltham High School. The subsequent activities of that motley crew have enabled us, the Class of 1964, to present a synopsis of a play in three acts performed by resident repertory players. It is produced by Mr. William Gallagher, directed by Mr. Almon Morang, and stage-managed by Mr. Edward May.

Act I: THE INNOCENT SOPHOMORES

The first scene opens with the characters awaiting the completion of the new wing, gym, and cafeteria. A meeting of the class officers is in progress. Glenn Perna, president, has just finished telling Nancy Centola, vice president, Betsey Welton, secretary, and Sally Mobilia, treasurer, that until the wing is finally completed, school will be dismissed at 1:10 every day and students will eat their lunches in their homerooms. Jeff Mason abruptly rushes in, carrying a large test tube of bubbling concoction and announces, "I have just received a certificate of merit in the Future Scientists of America Contest." In the midst of his congratulations, Debby Crane enters, dressed in a white nurses' uniform, and informs the class officers that she has been chosen to represent our school at the Red Cross summer program at Babson Institute.

The meeting adjourns, and the participants begin to congregate around an easel standing in the hall. It belongs to Robert Flinn, who has won a merit citation in the Massachusetts AAA Traffic Safety Poster contest. The curtain slowly closes on this happy group, blissfully unaware of what fates may befall them in future acts.

Act II: THE FRUSTRATED JUNIORS

Act II begins and enthusiasm dominates the scene at Waltham High School as the football cheerleaders, Arlene Genova, Suzanne Dawson, and Judy LeRette, and the hockey cheerleaders, Christi Mobilia, Ellen Carruthers, and Angelina Bonica, run into the cafeteria, exuberantly leading the spirited student body in the screaming of the Waltham High School song. Some of the heartier rooters, President Dave Emerson, Vice President Donna Schaufel, Secretary Diane Pergola, and Treasurer Linda Cincotta, are jumping about, waving red and white pennants. After the typical rally the students return to their homerooms. Suddenly Betty MacKenzie and Lynn Leonard interrupt the class shouting, "We just won the Kingsbury Temperance Fund Essay contest! Oh, by the way, before we forget, there's a bomb in the school. Tell everyone to check all the desks and lockers."

While all the students are busily engaged in the exciting activity of bomb hunting, Betty and Lynn, who are occupied with more important things, proceed to the office to collect their prize. There they meet James Cormier of the Vocational High School, who won the city-wide prize for the same contest. On their way back from the office Betty and Lynn encounter Debby Crane and Al Teichman, whose poems were accepted for the National Anthology of High School Poetry, who are composing haiku verses in the corridor, and William Theriault, who exuberantly announces that he has won first prize in the Annual Science Fair and that his project will be entered in competition at Brandeis University.

A shift in scene takes us to the IBEW hall, where we see Paul Walker, who was accepted into the Northeast Band, playing "Glow Little Glow Worm" on the clarinet. We also see Mr. Philpott, the new city-wide music director, leading the band members, who are attired in snappy new uniforms. After the concert the students are seated once more in their homerooms, reminiscing about the mysteriously transformed cafeteria, in which 120 couples enjoyed an Evening in Paris at the Junior Prom on the previous Friday night. All at once there is a resounding crash. It is the voice of Mr. May, our assistant principal, "May I have your attention, please. Bells will be held for a short time so that seniors can elect their March of Dimes queen. While you are voting, I have a few announcements to make. Congratulations to the following: Janet Burke, who will attend Bridgewater State College to study government; Genie Polower, who is the only junior to take a course at Brandeis; Daniel O'Reilly, who will receive the coveted Harvard Book Award this year; and Paul Walker, who will be sent to Germany as our AFS student. And will the four students whose names I have called report to the conference room at once. That is all."

The curtain closes as Janet, Genie, Dan, and Paul proceed to the conference room. Thus ends an eventful year.

Act III: THE SOPHISTICATED SENIORS

At the rise of the curtain upon the third act, an erudite, sophisticated group of seniors is lounging about in the corridors, waiting for Mr. Morang, the new senior housemaster, to chase them into their homerooms. One group that he never finds lounging in the corridors is the varsity debating team composed of Royal Rhodes, Michael Szpak, and Ronald Lamy, who as usual, are in the library engaged in the preparation of another debate. Ronnie also finds this time convenient for improving his speaking ability, with which he recently won the Middlesex County American Legion Oratory contest. This morning the class officers, as they come into the library, interrupt the tedious effort of the team. President Christine Straggas and Vice President Steven Bolio tell Secretary Judy Anderson and Treasurer Sally Agrillo, "The members of the basketball, hockey, and track teams are involved in a free-for-all. The scuttlebutt has it that while the teams were working out with the weights, being led by the cheerleader captains, Arlene Genova and Ellen Carruthers, and by those muscular track team managers, Debby Crane and Gail Stempson, a dispute arose between basketball captains, Art Piper and Carl Krinopol, and hockey captain Dave Crusco as to which team is the better. Both teams played in the State Tournaments, you know, and each felt it was superior in achievement. Soon the squabble turned into a wrestling competition." The fellows are calmed by sophomore housemaster Mr. Levey, junior housemaster Mr. Belliveau, and track coach Mr. Lee Gould. Mr. Morang, playing the heavy, severely reprimands all the students and sends them scurrying back to their homerooms just as the bell beginning first period rings.

With the crowning of first period the scene shifts to the cooking room where Jane Kilgore, Betty Crocker Homemaker contest winner, is busily preparing succulent roadrunner eggs and delicious rattlesnake bacon for Christine Straggas, D.A.R. Representative, and Women's Club Representatives, Linda Murphy, Anne Hignite, Mary Ann Pergola, and Carolyn Ritcey. Jane also has a cake in the oven which is destined for the new Distributive Education class's cake sale. The Voice of Waltham High School breaks in upon the meal to announce, "The Newspaper editors, Debby Crane, Gretchen Kromer, and Royal Rhodes, are wanted in the main office. Gretchen and Richard Hood will share the title of class poet this year, and both will read their poems at the Graduation ceremonies, honoring Tomorrow's America." The Voice stops and there is a split second of peace until a piercing scream emanates from the biology lab, soon followed by the source, Gail Edwards. Although Gail stands firmly on the intellectual battleground, having gained a National Merit Finalist berth, she is squeamish when fetal pigs become the untidy playing field, but she is quickly calmed by her fellow students, although they too are revolted by the sight.

Just as the students recover their operating room composure and silence is returned to the lab, the Voice crackles and announces that Paul Walker and Christine Straggas, Mirror editors, are wanted in the main office to discuss the Vocational School activities with the Vocational School president and National Honor Society member, Richard Vanaria. Daniel O'Reilly is also requested to go at once to the data processing room to save one of the computers into which he fed his latest formula. Danny, a brilliant science student, has just been announced as a Westinghouse Talent Search Winner.

The school day comes to a halt at Waltham High, but not far away at the Kennedy Memorial Junior High a hardy band of entertainers continues to slave at rehearsals. Led by able Craig Prophet, student director, this courageous group of high school students is preparing for the Talent Show, this year titled, "Lights, Cameras, Action!" Craig also directed the Senior Play, "It Walks at Midnight," one of the most successful dramatic efforts in several years. While the auditorium is alive with its usual pandemonium, Paul Walker attempts to get in some practice for his Northeast District Band and Massachusetts All-State Band appearances.

The Act, and the play, close on this scene of violent activity, so representative of the last three years at Waltham High School. Epilogue: The preceding play is not strictly a drama, nor is it a comedy. It is more a documentary relating the experiences of some of our most significant years, also of sorrow in the death of Mr. Raymond Crawford, director of music in Waltham for thirty-six years, of Mr. James Garrahan, beloved English teacher at Waltham High for twenty years, and of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy. Finally, the closing of the curtain on our drama does not signify the end of the play but the beginning of a lifetime.

Class

On one of those gray afternoons I had just settled down to watch my favorite program when a special news announcement flashed across T.V.

"Your attention, Class of 1964 of Waltham High, this is Mr. Gallagher speaking. I am making an important request that you return for a special Ninth Year Reunion. As principal of W.H.S., I thought it would be appropriate for us to help establish a sister school on the moon. So I have chosen the best class that has been graduated from W.H.S. to help me with suggestions and plans.

"You will enjoy yourselves, but I hope you will keep in mind what I have told you. Try to remember the things you consider most important from your high school days, scholastically, athletically, and socially. Among the luminaries at the reunion will be physicist Danny O'Reilly and well-known math experts, Rosemarie Cipriano, Martha Chaisson, Joseph Brown, and Dave Demeo. And now back to our program."

A week later, I stood awed by the mighty splendor of Waltham High's new auditorium. Sandy Sickles and Sue Dawson, Waltham High's beloved nurses, greeted us cheerfully as they led us into the auditorium. Just inside, Dr. Charlie Morrison, one of Waltham Hospital's best interns, was busily shouting out his views on debatable subjects that all doctors love to argue about. Beside him was medical secretary Donna Schaufus, who was speedily taking notes. Ted Arico, Olympic gold-medal winner, stood nearby flexing his muscles for Peace Corps Representative Maureen Pheeneey who was saying shrewdly, "Yes, Ted, we can use men like you . . ." Dancer Janet Petrulavage, her hair done in an elaborate coiffure designed by Janice Fraizier, glided by on the arm of that Broadway celebrity, Ronnie Lamy. I waved eagerly to Carol Mazzola, well-known press secretary for the wealthy business tycoon, Jim Bogle, who was chatting with engineer Bruce Tupper. Meanwhile, tuxedoed waiters Jackie Kadzis and Kerry Murphy sped by me precariously balancing heavily loaded trays. Waitresses, Loreen Edry, Donna MacLeod, and Ann Corrigan, dressed in perky black and white maid's uniforms designed by Robert Flinn and his proteges Linda Cormier and Ann Patten, served the hors-d'oeuvres. Judy Cox, Elaine Resnikoff, and Cathy Landrigan, devoted teachers at Waltham High, joined me as Richard Haines, Doctor of Theology, walked by nervously glancing at the prayer he would deliver when the ceremony began and muttering to himself as he did so, "Let's see . . . ! Dearly beloved, we are gathered here today! . . . No! That's not right! Dear me, I wish Dom Patano could have given me a few suggestions about this."

As I continued slowly through the crowd, I overheard Diane Chandonait discussing the plight of the modern secretary with Janice Cincotta. Joan Scalese, Pat Beninati, and Gerry Cappadona suggested that the business department on the moon would do well to model itself after the one from which they graduated.

The girls drew my attention to Chirs Straggas, who began her official welcome with, "I would like to thank Mr. Gallagher for his astute skill in recognizing our class as the best. By the way, I hope you don't feel uncomfortable in the unaccustomed luxury of our new auditorium. Now let's get down to business." Roving reporter Paula Medaglia began questioning business accountant James Sinerate on his views about the new school, while Kevin Fitzpatrick, assistant to Judy Scicotte head librarian of the sister school, was discussing the possibilities of including a complete set of books on the solar system to the school's library. Shipping the books to the moon would be the job of Paul Proia. Army corporal John Rumson was talking earnestly to teachers Lorraine Marmonti and Anne McArdle about starting a WAC trainee program on the moon.

Joan Shirley, another of the roving reporters, was speaking with Richard DeVincent, who along with Gerard Daigle and Joe McManus had offered modern crater landscaping for the new school. Nearby was Dennis Gallahan, assistant principal, who was speaking with Joe Taranto, Alan Marcolina, and Richard Zimjewski, the three candidates nominated for housemaster's jobs on the moon.

Standing amidst "the group," Carol Shedd, one of the roving reporters, received time-saving ideas from Joan Tierney, Emile Doucet, Cindy Stewart, and Toni Mancuso, all successful secretaries in their chosen fields of medicine and law. Rosemary Grimes, author of How to Balance Your Balance Sheets, gave authoritative advice on bookkeeping methods from her new book. Drifting into the conversation, famous hair stylist Jane Dalla Costa and her associate Bunny Mula, fashion consultant, lent their professional knowledge on how to be the "most fashionable" in any modern office. Just as the conversation was coming to a close, Bill Rogerson, director of Camp Stuck in the Muck, talked with Peter Cremins, Rollie Kinsman, and Harry Chiasson, owners of a nationwide chain of bowling establishments, on the possibility of supplying his camp with bowling equipment.

In the back of the auditorium, I saw Judy Anderson approaching a noisy crowd. The most commotion was coming from dentist Steve Bolio and his hygienist Sally Agrillo. They were trying to convince Steve Ducey to run for President. His platform, they suggested, could include increased federal aid to the moon and free cars for his campaign managers, Frankie Brazell and William Porter. This was lightly approved of by "Chief" Zanco, who was to be our new ambassador to the moon. John Carchia and Alfred St. John led the opposition and argued that Clayton Whitney had a better foreign policy.

Nearby Gail Edwards was reminiscing with Pat Patterson and Roy Dozois when John Cappadona attracted their attention with a roll of the drums. John introduced the members of his combo: Paul Manzon and Bill Romanicki were at the pianos, Orrin Young was playing the electric guitar, and Richard Nottebart was handling the trumpet duties. Suddenly, the famous High Steppers, Linda Cincotta, Judy Defina, Pat Moody, Linda Carney, Ruth MacLean, and Karen Conzo, appeared on the stage. As Gail was walking through the crowd she overheard Allen Garber and Roger Blake arguing with Clifford Moy about the merits of a course in embalming. Since travel on the moon would present special problems, Jimmy Noble, Robert Murray, and Robert Glovasky decided to try designing a practical car to put in the new underground student parking lot.

Bob Devoe, one of the interviewers, was discussing the proposed co-ed trade school with David McGrath. Dave thought that Harvey Smith should be Director of the Printing Shop and Edith Burton head of the Home Economics Department with Sandra Berinato and Joyce Couillard as assistants. Language teacher Robert Santoro was nodding wisely as he and Steve Grant solemnly discussed the mysteries of ancient Latin grammar. Bob heard Richard Ziegler, Jackie King, and Paul Novelli talking about their boss Dave Herter, who had recently purchased Waltham's largest supermarket from James Boudreau.

Another interviewer, Buddy Bowen, was speaking to Don Hinsman, a graduate of Annapolis, and Polaris Submarine captain, Curtis Barnard, who headed an armed services delegation that included Ed Gorman, Neil O'Brien, and Barry McNeil. Don suggested an R.O.T.C. program for the new school. As Buddy was speaking to Don, he was lifted off the ground by weight-lifter Jim Leate, who along with other well-known athletes, Ronny Benson, Ernie Arsenault, Jim Earley, and Tom Kelly, expressed their concern for a strong physical fitness program on the moon.

"1-2-3-4, 1-2-3-4," was heard in the distance as Phyllis Quirk, Louise Shaw, Rosalie Scifo, and Carol Bishop came trotting forward to offer their services for a girls' physical education department.

As the evening came to a close, I saw Chris Straggas gathering her reporters to discuss the opinions that their classmates had offered. I heard Mr. Gallagher giving his farewell address while Chris Straggas and Steve Ducey were preparing to lead the Class of 1964 in a typically stirring Waltham High School rally.

A school on the moon—a bigger and better W.H.S.; that's impossible! Maybe it will be bigger, but certainly not better. When a school graduates a class like ours, it leaves little room for improvement. In short, "We are the greatest," and you can't get much better than that except perhaps on the moon...

SHOOTERS!

1964 Class Will

Friends, parents, teachers, lend us your ears. We come in joy and not in sadness to present and record the last will and testament of the Class of 1964.

To Mr. Gallagher, our affable headmaster, we leave our sincere gratitude for guiding us through our high school years with kindness and understanding.

To Mr. Van Arsdale, director of our Vocational High School, we bequeath and devise a personalized megaphone to project his voice throughout the school.

For comfort and quiet while traversing the halls of Waltham High, we bestow upon Mr. May a pair of silent, soft-soled, squeak-proof shoes.

Our illustrious housemaster, Mr. Morang, is now the deserving recipient of a kitchenette complete with a renovated and remodeled chem lab apron to aid him in preparing meals in the senior house office.

For Mrs. Case we have secured permission to establish a concession on the doughnut maker to be built into the kitchenette of our housemaster.

We recommend an appropriation to Mr. Quinn, our athletic director, for a ticket booth for the use of our super salesmen, Mr. Hood and Mr. Hendry.

For Mr. Distel of the Math Department we provide time and transportation for a long awaited honeymoon to Innsbruck, Austria.

To Miss McCullough we donate a series of documentaries of our decade to supplement the 1940 and 1950 films now being shown in social studies classes.

For his greater peace of mind we endow Mr. Foley with a sound-proof, double-locked room to protect him from the noise and intruders of the 105 Club.

For Mr. Eames, the head of our Science Department, we requisition a complete science library with special emphasis on material relating to fetal pigs and Drosophila, fruit flies to most of us.

For Miss Daily we install a special switch to correct and/or reject any notices over the loud speaker pertaining to cancellations of assignments and tests.

To Mr. Timothy Fitzgerald of our Math Department we leave a little black book to keep his figures straight.

Projecting our plans for next year's student-faculty games, we nominate Mr. H. O'Brien and Mr. D. O'Brien (Big O'Bie and Little O'Bie) with Mr. Flagg sandwiched between as a nucleus for the Faculty team.

We engrave for Miss Balch, director of the Business Department, a plaque in recognition of her time spent instructing teachers of other departments in the use of their recently acquired machines.

Our gift to Miss Hirst is a master key to open all lockers, drawers, and doors, as well as her sentry box from which she can marshal her homeroom students into class at precisely 7:55 A.M.

We propose for Mr. Levey a more centralized office that would not be such an attraction for the girls.

An automatic, electronic map awaits Mrs. Minear to help next year's classes pinpoint placenames under discussion.

For Mr. St. Martin we will have installed a perpetual conveyor belt to provide him with a constant supply of food to satisfy his insatiable appetite.

We hereby enroll Twinkle Toes Poirier in a refresher charm course to improve his poise on the basketball court.

We charter for Miss Hogan a yellow school bus to take students on extracurricular trips of her choice.

To get him in shape for his constant trips from S-017 to the English office and the Library, we have ordered for Mr. Boyd, our jovial English teacher, a track suit, custom made by Omar.

To Miss Betts we will a miniature, steel Eiffel Tower encased in class as a fond memory of Paris.

We have made plans for the construction of a permanent penthouse to accommodate future magnificent publications of the Mirror. This bequest we dedicate to Mr. Nevlon, our deserving advisor.

For Mrs. Hughes we suggest an automatic tape recording of the daily bulletin to be played by each teacher at his own discretion.

To Mr. Chapman and the Guidance Department we leave several overstuffed chairs to ensure their comfort while monitoring the College Board Exams.

For Miss Childs and her department we formulate a revised set of basketball rules to give "impetus" to the intramural program.

We have procured for Mrs. Marr a set of portable isolation booths to separate talkative students in her classes and studies.

For Mrs. Bowman and Miss Tabor we have obtained an anonymous grant to enable them to compile and publish a current booklist for Waltham High School.

A collection of assorted do-it-yourself kits is our gift to our versatile Mr. Benedict for repairs on home, car, and Language Lab.

To next year's Senior Class and their housemaster, Mr. Belliveau, we leave an optimistic outlook on a year during which the school population will soar to over two thousand.

To the Class of 1966 we will the dream of a new high school to be built, hopefully, before they graduate.

We, the undersigned, hereby declare this to be our last will and testament in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-four. On this four hundredth anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare, we quote his words which express our own sentiments: "Now the hurlyburly's done, now the battle's lost and won."

As executors of this document we select and appoint Miss Katherine Devane, Mr. Donald Prohovich, Mrs. Constance Dorin, and Mr. Herbert Philpott.

Class Poems 1964

We Are America.

Many hands built America:

The firm, determined fists of adventurers, roughened by the salt wind and sea.

The strong fingers of farmers, browned by the earth and sun.

The smooth, well-shaped wrists of writers,

The hands of men, guided by a glorious vision

Of a land where all men could be

Free.

All our lives our own unsteady hands have been taught and disciplined.

So that they might make their contributions

To that for which our fathers toiled,

To America.

We alone are able to fulfill or to destroy their dream.

The split-second motion of a human hand

Fired a shot last November

And we all felt the shock of pain and wept

For a man

Who had such faith in Americans, in us,

That he dedicated to them the most precious thing he had,

His life.

At this moment we hold

In our very palms

The seeds of tomorrow's world.

We have power so great

It staggers the imagination

And, with it, a responsibility

To those who went before.

May our hands be strong

Today and ever.

GRETCHEN KROMER

Awakening

We are a tree

With roots, trunk, and branches,

But no leaves,

Just buds, our flowering yet to come.

We are the buds,

Bristling, restless,

New, tender,

Wavering in the breeze.

We are the branches

Groping, stalwart,

Soft, reaching out

To a goal unknown.

We are the trunk

Sturdy, thick,

Standing on the ground,

Giving forth bounteous fruit.

We are the roots

Digging into the past,

Absorbing, clinging

To our honored tradition.

We are a tree

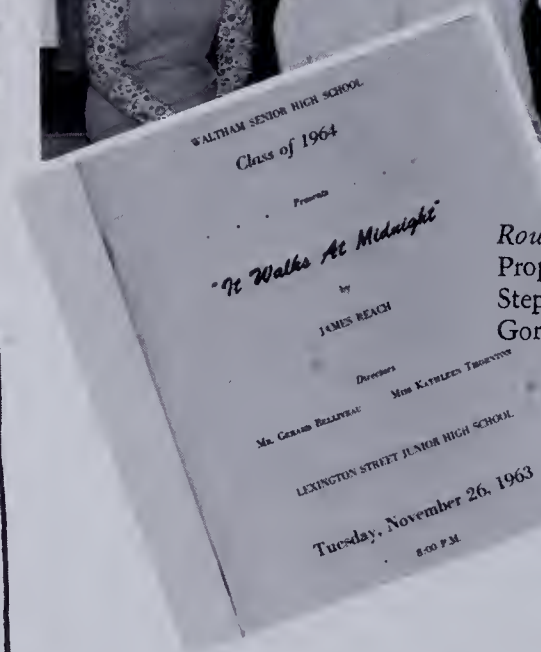

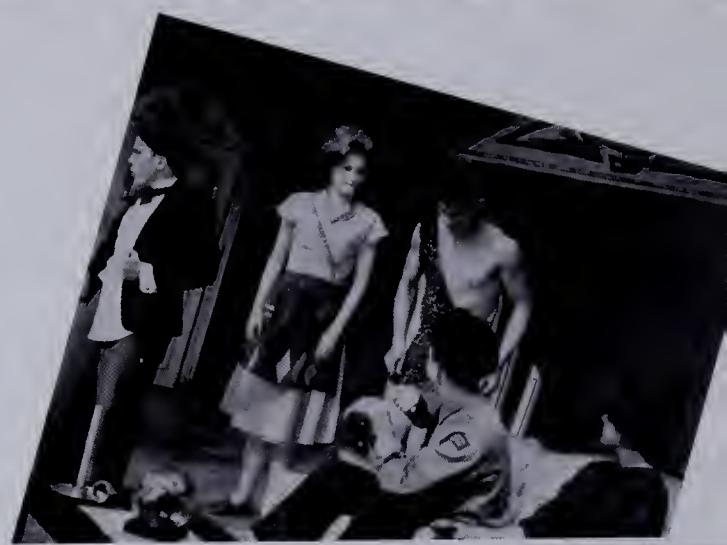

With all its parts,

Stretching, growing,

With future unbound.

Take a kidnapping, a murder, a honeymoon couple, a happy neurotic, and a vagrant detective—put them all together in a hunted house—mix with lots of comedy and the brilliant direction of Craig Prophet—and the result is the class of 1964's Senior Play, "It Walks at Midnight," presented on December 2, 1963.

1964 Class Day

June 1 marked the Class Day observances of the class of 1964. We all marched into the I. B. E. W. Hall to the rhythm of "Fanfare and Processional," played by the Waltham High School band. Everyone was infected by the impish mirth the co-chairmen of the various committees sparked in the reading of the 1964 class history, prophecy, and will. A clarinet solo by Paul Walker, accompanied by Edward May, and a senior ensemble, composed of Joann Noke, Noel Manning, Genie Polower, Judith Sicotte, Joan Shirley, Gail Stempson, and Judith Zacher, added their deft touch to the proceedings. Angelina Bonica and Donald Hinsman presented the senior superlative gifts awarded by the class. MIRROR co-editors, Christine Straggas and Paul Walker, dedicated the 1964 yearbook to the faculty of W.H.S. With mixed emotions and great expectations we marched out to the recessional.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE KEY WINNERS

Rosemarie Cipriano, Carol Coveney, Janice Fair, Maria Juliano, Christine Mobill, Daniel O'Reilly, Genie Polower, Royal Rhodes, Bruce Tupper, Paul Walker.

Congratulations!

Our Sincerest Gratitude

"... a school that is hallowed and radiant with truth." The words of the 1964 class song, co-authored by Genie Polower and Paul Walker, echoed through Ullman Amphitheater at Brandeis University as the class of 1964 graduated on the evening of June 2.

Solemnly the graduating class filed into the amphitheater and after the invocation by Monsignor Flynn, the first girl president of the class in Waltham High's long history, Christine Straggas, welcomed the assembled throng. Mistress of Ceremonies, Linda Murphy, gave the keynote address and introduced the three honor speakers, Bruce Tupper, Daniel O'Reilly and Royal Rhodes, as well as the class co-poets, Richard Hood and Gretchen Kromer; the theme of their talks was "Tomorrow's America." Paul Walker and Richard Vanaria presented the class gifts from Waltham High and Vocational High, respectively. Reverend Kromer gave the prayer, and then our headmaster, Mr. Gallagher, awarded the scholarship keys and announced the local scholarship and recognition of students by colleges. The summation of twelve years of schooling was climaxed as we each filed across the stage to receive our diplomas from Mayor Rhodes, assisted by members of our School Committee. After the benediction, given by Rabbi Kra, the singing of our class song and the Waltham High song, the graduation ceremonies came to a close for the class of 1964.

Tomorrow's America

"Tomorrow we can call ourselves alumni of [unclear] High School; we are about to become a part of "Tomorrow's America." This night I am sure will be in our memories because it is the achievement of one of our first great milestones in life . . . To ourselves we honor our school and America as well, and I am confident that in this changing world, the thoughts and emotions regarding this treasured night will never change."

CHRISTINE STRAGGAS

"We must realize that we are a part of the great movement of Western Civilization . . . We have developed into a self-seeking generation which doesn't wish to get involved . . . an uncommitted "generation of vipers." Each of us must face the social cancers of our times; racial discrimination, the suburbs' refusal to face the problem of residential bias . . . the blame citizens must bear for electing corrupt government officials . . . We must have a cultural reawakening; a thirst for moral and social justice . . . The humanities make us morally committed and ready to cope with problems in the social . . . We are in the process of building a great city and a great future. Let us not forget to create the great men to go into it."

ROYAL W. RHODES

"No one's strength and glory is measured by his present knowledge and position, but by what he makes of this beginning . . . We won't all become world leaders, but each of us can strive for excellence which is in itself a form of leadership . . . We must not settle for mediocrity . . . How well we fulfill our aspirations will determine the strength of Tomorrow's America."

LINDA MURPHY

"Creativity requires no special education. Whether it be a child playing with blocks or a physicist wrestling with the mysteries of the atom, the basic action is the same . . . Most of us are familiar with our many past scientific accomplishments. But what of those to come? . . . Let's not look in the well-lighted places, however, in our search for new ideas . . . Instead, we must look in the dark corners. It has been said, "If it is dark enough, you can see the stars." Let's look for the stars."

DANIEL F. X. O'REILLY

"Today, man can eat precooked foods . . . look forward to a longer span of life, and destroy his entire civilized world with the touch of a finger . . . The Unisphere stands for the hope of tomorrow . . . Through understanding we can consolidate today's advances and realize tomorrow's potential, that today's world of unrest will advance into tomorrow's world of peace. But the men who started this hope are not the ones who will make it a reality; rather the realization of "Peace Through Understanding" will come from today's and tomorrow's graduates. It is our responsibility!"

Cercle Français

"Le Cercle Francais," the first French club ever to exist at W.H.S., was organized in November of 1961, under the supervision of Madame Johnson. The club's main purpose is to stimulate interest in conversational French. This included an excursion to a French restaurant and a viewing of a film, based on the novel by Labriche, in which the dialogue was completely in French.

With their distinctive berets and red, white, and blue insignia "Le Cercle Francais" adds a French flavoring to W.H.S. We all hope that it will continue to be as successful as it is now.

Waltham High School Band

Setting the year off on the right note was the job of our band and chorus, both under the direction of Mr. Herbert J. Philpott. Our collegiate looking band performed at all our football games, while the chorus made its debut at the Christmas assembly. The Tri-W concert and the all-city concert left both groups little time for rest.

Under Co-Captains Art Piper and Carl Krinipol the Crimson Hoopsters enjoyed one of their finest seasons in Suburban League Basketball. Junior Bill Judkins averaged 17 points per game, and co-captain Art Piper scored a record breaking 36 points against Newton. Thus W.H.S. compiled a 13-5-2 league record which qualified them for the Tech Tournament. In the Tech they defeated a powerful B. C. High team, and then lost a close one to Malden, who finished first in the tournament.

With topnotch coaching from Walter Brinn, the 1964 hockey team had one of its greatest seasons, compiling a 10-3-1 record. This energetic team astounded the G.B.I. League by beating undefeated Arlington and Brookline. Enthusiastic Captain Dave Crusco led a well organized team to the State Hockey Tournament at the Boston Arena, where Waltham lost a heartbreaker by 1-0 to Malden in the second sudden death overtime period.

Returning next year are valuable assets to the swim team: Dick Anderson, who was third in the 100 yard back stroke at the State Meet and outstarters Don Leseur and Dan Krol. Also, a capable replacement for senior diver Bob Gaudet is Jim Capentino.

The 1964 W.H.S. swim team was led by co-captains John Kadzis, who was in the top eight contenders in the butter fly stroke, at the State Meet and Jim Earley, who made the top eight in distance at the meet. Honorable mention is given to Bob Gaudet for his exquisite form and style as a diver.

A word of appreciation is given to the advisor of the swim team, Mr. O'Brien who gave a lot of time and effort to the boys.

Waltham High's 1964 team showed their baseball finesse in the expert fielding of Kevin Ryan, Art Milliken, and Don Brophy, assisted by infielders, Ken Shea, Ernie Arsenault, and Captain Ted Arico. Reliable shortstop Bo McCausland had the team's highest batting average. When the chips were down, our dependable pitchers, the Elliott Brothers, Bob and Norm, and equally capable Buzz Borden, proved their skills by pulling the team through the Brookline game, thereby qualifying W.H.S. for the State Tournament. The W.H.S. nine earned distinction as Co-Champs of the Suburban League after outplaying Lowell at M.I.T. The boys won the Eastern Mass. Championship in an exciting game against a highly rated Somerville team. Finally, in late June W.H.S. became the State Champs by beating Chicopee High. Full credit is given to Coach Yetter for his excellent baseball strategy, to the fine leadership of Capt. Ted Arico, and to a highly spirited team. Congratulations to all!

The Mirror Editors

A Proclamation

1964

Thomas F. Neylon, Jr.

Paul D. Shea

WHEREAS, In the early days of this publication Mr. Neylon and Mr. Shea have been the spark of inspiration and dedication, and

WHEREAS, They have played a major role in formulating our ideas, instilling in us fundamental principles of behavior and preparing us to meet the duties and responsibilities of our office, and

WHEREAS, While they have worked long hours in the preparation and publication of this book in addition to their other academic duties, their efforts sometimes find reward only in the inner satisfaction of having fulfilled their duties well, and in their joy in the development, happiness, and achievements of their students, and

WHEREAS, Our school, recognizing that they are not honored enough;

NOW, therefore, WE THE MIRROR EDITORS, in accordance with Chapter 06174 of the Acts of 1964, do hereby proclaim as

Thomas F. Neylon, Jr. and Paul D. Shea Week

May 31—June 7, 1964

GIVEN at the Executive Chamber in S-210, this twenty-first day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and eighty-eighth.

Mirror Editors

For their many courtesies the Mirror staff also wishes to thank: Mr. William Gallagher and Mr. Lloyd Van Arsdale for their understanding and help;

Mrs. Thomas Neylon, Jr., for her help in proofreading;

Russo Studio, O'Neil Studio, and the NEWS TRIBUNE for photographic assistance.

Congratulations to the Class of 1964

Because of the many opportunities that exist today in science and engineering, Raytheon hopes you will give some thought to a career in one of these fields. Consider, if you will, the exciting frontiers of scientific discovery which can make this a better world in which to live. Scientists and engineers at Raytheon have helped make many of the past year's headlines in such diverse areas as missiles, space, radar, semiconductors and electronic tubes. Tomorrow it may be your turn.

A TELEPHONE JOB

OFFERS BOTH CAREER

AND SOCIAL SATISFACTION

WITHOUT BREAKING STRIDE,

why not graduate from high school to the Telephone Company? You'll love the friendly young people who'll work with you, and the many social activities that make your work so pleasant and rewarding.

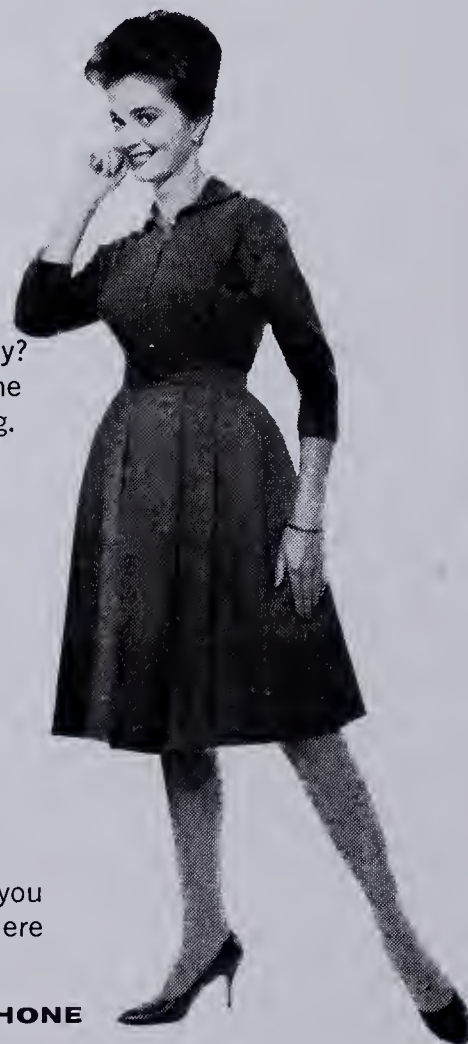

OPPORTUNITY IS EXCELLENT

and your ability will be recognized. Your starting salary should climb with regular increases. And, of course, Company benefits, security, and regular advancement are well-known reasons why working for the Telephone Company is so attractive to graduates.

TELEPHONE JOBS ARE IMPORTANT,

vital to the effective communications of the community, the nation, and the world. When you take your place as a respected member of the telephone community, we'll train you, on full salary, even without previous job experience.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.

Garber's office, just a few minutes from the High School, now offers frequent Driver Education Courses.

It is possible for you to take the classroom work at school, and the behind-the-wheel training at Garber's and still have your insurance.

Why take months to learn to drive . . . at Garber's you can have your license in a few weeks — and save many times the cost of the course.

Come in for free catalogue, and see our new classroom.
